

VEGETABLE PRICES SHOW MIXED TRENDS IN DELHI DESPITE HEAT

The heatwave has just started setting in over the northern plains in the country even as it has been causing considerable discomfort in eastern, central and western India.

The India Meteorological Department (IMD) in its latest forecast said that heatwave to severe heatwave conditions are likely to continue over east and south Peninsular India during next five days, while a fresh spell of rainfall accompanied with thunderstorms or lightning and gusty winds likely over Northwest India from April 26-28 may keep the temperatures down.

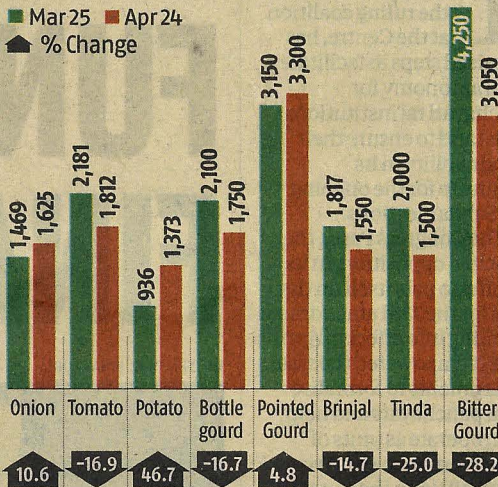

Among the commodities impacted by intense heat, vegetables are amongst the most vulnerable, as storage and warehousing gets difficult, raising the chances of rotting.

SANJEEB MUKHERJEE

SWEET AND SOUR

WHOLESALE PRICES OF SOME KEY VEGETABLES IN ₹ PER QUINTAL

Azadpur Mandi (Delhi)

NOTE: The start and end dates vary for different items based on the data availability
Source: agmarket.gov.in

